

Congratulations, remember it is not just how you do in audition, but how hard you work all year along with the audition day.

Students who have two levels next to their name must take their assigned classes first before you can take the upper level. The biggest improvement this year were with students who not only took there level but actually took their level and the level lower. By working on easier steps their technique made incredible improvements. It is ok to push a child by letting them take at an apprentice level, but if you do this you are really hurting your child IF you do not also sign them up for their own level. Also some children are really good at STEPS but when they are put in to a combination the technique goes out the door. I also see a bigger improvement on students who take at least 3 Jazz/leaps and turns classes, I know this is not always possible, but if you can - do it. Remember your ballet training really helps you with your Jazz.

In summer we will be combining levels as we only have half the students taking classes, therefore this will not be a correct indication of what the classes will be in the fall..

After summer you will be in your assigned class, (unless you move up even more during summer.)
